

About Bahrain Public Transport Company

Bahrain Public Transport Company (BPTC) is a private joint venture between leading UK-based international transport providers National Express plc and Bahrain-based Ahmed Mansour Al Aali (AMA), the largest and longest-established contracting and construction group in the Kingdom of Bahrain.

BPTC was appointed by Ministry of Transportation and Telecommunications (MTT) under a 10-year concession agreement to operate Bahrain's public buses in accordance with international standards and practices. Under the supervision and regulation of the MTT, BPTC is responsible for the operation of the entire public bus network as well as the provision of the upgraded buses, and bus terminals infrastructure development.

www.bahrainbus.bh